A BONE OF CONTENTION

This Whiskey Legislation Promises to Be One of the Most Troublesome and Difficult Matters Before the Legislature.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

RALDIGH, N. C., January 27.—There was a big temperance raily at Central Methodist Church, in this city, last night, during which stirring addresses were made by Dr. T. M. Ivey, editor of the Raleigh Christian Advocate; State Senator Lamb, of Cumberland county, and Representative Hinton, of Elizabeth City.

The purpose was to start a movement Italising Carisian Advocate; State senator Lamb, of Cumberland county, and Representative Hinton, of Elizabeth City.
The purpose was to start a moveman looking to driving the saloon from Raleigh and help along the fight before the Legislature for the Anti-Saloon League bill. Conditions are warming up rapidly now for the whiskey fight, which promises to be a most troublesome bone of contention to come up during this session of the Legislature. Both saloon and anti-saloon lobbylsts are coming in from all parts of the State. There will be hearings, before the joint Committee on Propositions and Grievances to-morrow and Thursday afteranoons. The most probable cutcome will be a compromise between the Anti-Saloon League bill and the Walls bill, so that the manufacture and sale of liquor can be confined to the incorporated towns, counties or townships, and towns to have the privilege to vote prohibition or dispensary, as they wish.
At 3 o'clock this afternoon Mrs. W. H.
S. Burgwyn, of Weldon, and a number of other ladies connected with the King's Daughters, appeared before the joint Committee on Reformatories and urged a favorable report on the bill they have had introduced to establish an industrial school for white children, to which all children under sixteen years convicted of crime shall be sent. The bill provides that the board of directors shall consist of seven halles. The State is to pay fallors' fees to the management for keeping the young convicts in custody, and they are to be worked and trained in the ladustrial school.

Dr. Joel Whitaltor, a prominent dentist

"I came to Washington to put my morther on the train for California, where she goes to visit my brother," said Mr. Curhming. "My visit to the Capitol was merely for the purpose of paying my respects to Senator Martin.

Asked about his redistricting bill, Mr. Cummings said: "You may say that I have not given up my bill. It will go through the Legislature."

"Will it be passed in the same shape in which it was introduced?" he was asked. lng the young convicts in custody, and they are to be worked and trained in the industrial school.

COTTON SPINNERS

Large and Representative Meeting in Session at Charlotte.
(Special to The Times Dispatch.)
CHARLOTTE, N. C., January 27.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., January T., More than a hundred representative mill men from every Southern State were here to-day to attend a called meeting of the Southern Cotton Spinners' Association. Three separate meetings were held before a conclusion was reached. It was decided that the purpose of warms be decided. that the price of yarns be advanced from 1-2 to 1 cent a pound. This to take effect within the next thirty days. Southern mill men claim that the demand for yarns was never greater, and this, coupled with the fact that all spinning mills in the South are not making money is the reason assigned for the raise. In addition to the large number of mill men, there were twenty or more well known commission men here, some of whom were from New York and some from Philadelphia.

A Board of Examiners to Be Created in North Carolina. Other Bills Passed.

(Special to The Times-Disputch.) RALEIGH, N. C., January 27.

(special to the Intestingence.)

RALBIGH. N. C., January 27.—The question of licensing trained nurses in North Carolina came up in the House to-day, while a bill was on its readings to amend the charter of Walker Memorial Hospital, Wilmington, so that this institution can issue diplomas. The bill was introduced by Mr. Morton, and by special request put on its readings.

It passed second reading, but was held up on the third by objection from Mr. Alexander. The contention was made that a bill is now in process of enactment, providing a board of examiners, who shall issue licenses to trained nurses. It was agreed that diplomas shall be subject to the Board of Examiners to be created, and the bill then passed final reading. Other notable bills passed were: To prohibit manufacture, sale and shipment of winning in the Scotland county; to incorporate the Bank of Schma.

Bills of note introduced were:

By Mr. Newland: To establish a training school for teachers in Western North Carolina.

By Mr. Price: To amend the law relating to competency of depositions in the trial of causes.

The House had quite a squabble over the hour for meeting to morrow. A mo-tion to meet at 11 o'clock was defeated, and Mr. Morton moved to meet at 7 A. M. This was voied down by roll call bal-lot 49 to 47, and adjournment then taken

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) NORFOLK, VA., Jan. 27.—That the course of true love, though in the end reaching a happy goal, may meanwhile have many ups and downs, was set forth in a real life story of young adventure in Norfolk to-day. Yesterday afternoon application was made at the office of of the cierk of the Norfolk to-day.

Yesterday afternoon application was made at the office of of the clerk of the courts for a marriage license for Dominick Tocce (Tocc-se) and Jessamine Lyen. The groom falled to satisfy Deputy Clerk Wright of the fact that he was twenty-one years of age—he says he is nearly twenty-twe-and the license was denied him. The groom is a handsome young Haitan—a native of Norfolk. He is a violinist and leader of the Monticello Orchestra. After learning that his nuptials would have to be postponed he concluded to fill his engagement at the Monticello Inst hight and early this morning take his lady love off to Norfolk of Gertna Green—Elizabeth City—and there have the knot tied, the plan being to get back here this evening.

But he was just a little two enthust-nsite over his arrangements, and talked about them to his grief. His mother, it develops, was bitterly opposed to the marriage—to his marrying Miss Lyon Exactly the basis of her objection has not definitely transpired, but it is reported to be due to the fact that her family are Catholics, while Miss Lyon is a Protestant. Be this as it may, her opposition was of a most determined character, as the sequel schows. It got to her cars that Dominick was going to 'run away' with Miss Lyon this morning and be married, so she planned to thwart it.

in the affirmative, whereupon the officer told him that he had a warrant for his arrest—th had been issued at the instance of his mother. This was a stunner for both the young people, and they were not slow to ask upon what charge the warrant had been issued. It was read to them and proved to be a charge of using abusive language to Mis mother. There was nothing to do but submit, and the pretty soventeen-year-old girl, with a saddened heart, boarded a streetear for home, and Dominick accompanied the officer to jail.

Miss Lyon is resourceful and was running over in her mind on the way home how she might have her lover released. She walked rapidly to her heme and took her mother all about the dreadful disappointment, and together they set to work to plan for Dominick's release. It so happened that Mr. Lyon, the father of the girl, had had some legal business with Mr. James F. Duncan, the well-known attorney, and so the mother and daughter decided that they would call on Mr. Duncan and get his advice as to how to proceed. That gentleman agreed to help them, and it was not very long before he had Dominick out on $190 ball, he (Duncan) going his security. The faces of Mrs. Lyon and Miss Lyon were wreathed in smiles when they heard that the lover was again a free man, and they left the once of Mr. Duncan with the understanding that the warrant against Dominick would have to be tried in the Police Court at 9 A. Measures.

The Retail Grucers' Association held a most interesting meeting last night at Lee Camp Hall, and a committee from the Richmond Produce Exchange, which is being revived, met with it.

The retail grocers are going to take a hand in getting the laws which they believe will be of benefit to themselves. One of the measures now before the Legislature which they will push to the utmost is that offered by Senator Opis appropriating $1,000 to put into execution the pure food laws which are now on the statute books. President W. W. Tiller said last night that Richmond and the State were the dumping grounds for the refuse of other States, and all were concerned in bringing about a change in these deplorable affairs. Other measures of importance to the retail grocers are to be proposed at their suggestion and advocated by strong committees from their body.

Mr. Walierstein spoke earnestly in favor of having the pure food laws enforced. Every one present took the same view. The Retail Grocers of Richmond meet every second and fourth Tuesday of each month to discuss matters of importance and interest to them. Owing to lack of interest, the belief that such an organization was not needed and other causes, the Produce Exchange has been allowed to go to pieces. The need for strong organization is now felt, and one will shortly result. It is expected that officers will be elected this week. Mr. C. E. Richards, of E. W. Evans and Company, was the last president the organization had. last president the organization had,

DISLIKE PROXIMITY TO NEGRO WOMEN

Residents of Brooklyn Protest Against Establishment of Branch of W. C.

T. U. in Their Neighborhood.

(Special to The Times-bispatch.)

NEW YORK, January 27.—The people of the fashionable section of Brooklyn have protested against the establishment of a colored branch of the Young Women's Christian Association in that part of the city. The Young Women's Christian Association tried to purchase a house in that section for a branch for colored women, and the residents promptly met and protested to the owners of the property int its sale for such a purpose would decrease the value of all the property in the neighborhood, and would clear the neighborhood of all its better class of residents. All said last night that if the proposed colored branch of the Young Women's Christian Association was established, they would move out of the neighborhood.

It looks now as if there will be no colored branch in that section. The residents say their wives and delghters shall not be forced to pass and repass negro women on the streets every day, almost at their doors, and everything else aside, the mere idea of these negro women and girls being so close to them is horrible.
